Built at Arbuthnot Sawmill in Koondrook in 1923, and named after the former owner Alexander James "Cooke" Arbuthnot, PS Alexander Arbutnot was the last paddlesteamer built on the Murray River during the riverboat trade.

After being abandoned for many years, she was resurrected by a group of volunteers from Shepparton and eventually in 1989 she was brought to Echuca where she was lovingly restored.
